She fled into her mother's room, and when the intruder reached the door she recognized him and called her husband's name. Immediately he shot her in the arm, and as she retreated he continued to fire at her. She asked if he was going to kill her and the husband responded, according to the witness, "Yes, I am going to kill you and all the family."

The wife said she witnessed the killing of her little brother, ten years old, who fell over on the bed. The wife says she was then shot in the neck and in other parts of her body. Five bullets struck her, and she became unconscious and knew no more until she awoke at the hospital, the witness asserted.

The cross-examination of the wife was in progress when this report closed.
